

Abstract of the Invention

The present invention relates to a method for measuring a three dimensional shape of an arbitrary fine pattern on a semiconductor device. An optical measurement system measures cross section information. An electron microscope obtains an electron beam image of the arbitrary fine pattern. Plane information and cross section information obtained from the electron beam image of the arbitrary fine pattern are combined to measure the three dimensional shape of the arbitrary fine pattern.